Activists urge selectmen to pursue school issues

by Jeff Nazzaro
Wilmington school activists Suzanne Clarkin and Agnes Fiumara made an unscheduled appearance at Monday night's board of selectmen meeting to reiterate concerns to the board over system-wide problems.

"I believe the quality of our school system has decreased," Clarkin told the board in asking that selectmen meet with school committee members to try and forge long-term solutions to space needs problems.

Clarkin said that next year, 755 students are slated for enrollment at the Shawsheen Elementary School, a population burden that will likely necessitate the transformation of the school's computer room into a fifth grade classroom and the dividing of the school gym into two other classrooms.

At first Selectmen Chairman Michael McCoy seemed unwilling to entertain the subject, stating "We appreciate your coming down here and expressing your point of view and I think we need to do something."

But McCoy recognized Clarkin again and then Fiumara and said the board will invite the school committee to a meeting of selectmen to discuss the future of the school system.

Clarkin said selectmen and school committee members need to work together, a point embraced by McCoy and Selectman Robert Cain at Monday's meeting.

But McCoy also said the issue comes down to available funds - of which there doesn't seem to be a lot. "How can we do this without money?" McCoy intoned rhetorically.

Selectman Chester Bruce, meanwhile, said he believes the school department is not fully utilizing its Town Meeting - approved budget.

"There is still money in the school system," Bruce said.

But Fiumara feels more needs to be done, especially with the consideration that Wilmington has 400 newly approved housing lots, lots that will most likely attract young couples with children.

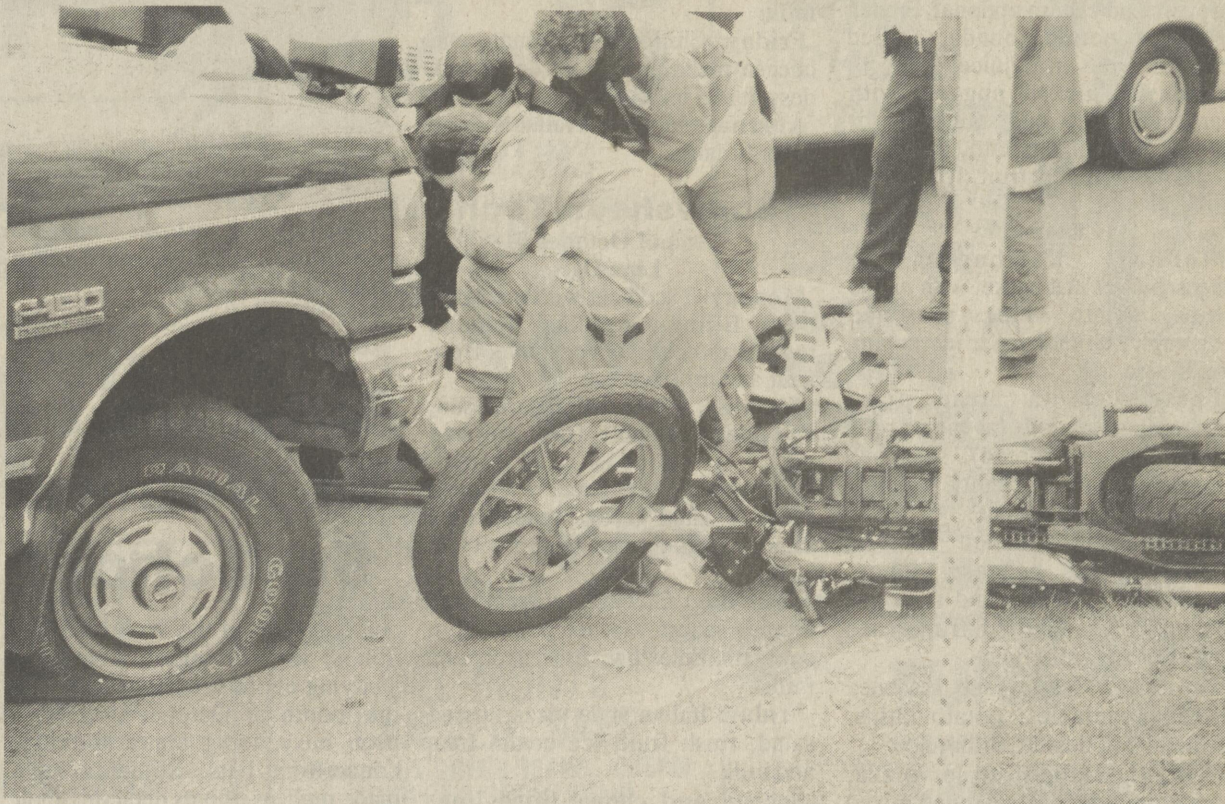

"There is no Band-Aid solution for one year anywhere," Fiumara warned. "The long-term solution is a new school for this town."

In April, Wilmington voters trounced by a 60-40 percent margin a Proposition 2 1/2 override that would have provided funds for the reopening of the Boutwell Street Elementary School.

"The override is a dead issue," Clarkin said. "We have to move on and find new solutions."

Fiumara believes the time to find those solutions is now, before next year's school committee budget is due.

"The whole town has got to realize the seriousness of this situation," Fiumara stated. "It's critical and people have got to wake up."

Wilmington man injured

by Jeff Nazzaro
A Wilmington man was critically injured Friday when he lost control of his motorcycle and collided with a truck on Main Street at the intersection of Butters Row.

James J. Hare, 26, of Woburn Street, was listed in guarded condition at Boston City Hospital as of Wednesday.

Hare was treated by Wilmington Fire Department paramedics and flown to Boston via Med-Flight emergency helicopter.

Police say Hare was traveling southbound on his 1989 Harley Davidson motorcycle when he glanced off a van attempting to traverse Main Street from Butters Row onto Cross Street.

Hare attempted to maneuver around the van, driven by Edward J. Farrell, of Billerica, but grazed it and slid into the plow frame of a truck driven by Wilmington resident Glenn Hooper, according to Wilmington Police Deputy Bernard Nally, who said Hooper had apparently stopped to let Farrell into traffic.

Nally said no citations have been issued yet, but a State Police accident reconstruction officer is investigating the accident with Wilmington Police Officer John Bossi.

Police have not yet been able to talk to Hare, who remains hospitalized, and still have one other witness to speak to.

Sewer assessments to go down

by Jeff Nazzaro
The good news for Wilmington's 700 MWRA residential sewer subscribers is that there will be an 8.2 percent decrease in this month's sewer assessment.

But the larger reduction of 19.9 percent, scheduled to begin July 1 of next year, has been pared down to 6.8 percent after the MWRA Rate Implementation Subcommittee voted to moderate significant increases for some communities at the expense of significant decreases for others, including Wilmington.

Wilmington Assistant Town Manager Jeffrey Hull, who sits on the subcommittee, voted, along with two others, against the measure, which prevailed 10-3.

"The communities like Wilmington, who will have seen a significant decrease, will be subsidizing so-called catastrophic communities like Woburn and Lexington," Hull said at Monday night's board of selectmen meeting.

Hull said he hopes the subcommittee vote will not hold up.

"I believe it will have to go to the full [MWRA] Advisory Board for a vote," he stated.

Blood drive Nov. 2

We all know we should give blood. With out blood supplies many people would die. The question is not why should we give blood, but when.

The answer is: Next Wednesday, November 2nd! The Wilmington Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions are sponsoring a blood drive in conjunction with the Winchester Family Medical Center from 2 p.m.

to 8 p.m. Most of their members will be participating and they are hoping you will, too.

The Winchester Family Medical Center is located at 500 Salem St. (Rt 62) in North Wilmington between Rt 93 and the North Reading line

To schedule an appointment call 657-3910 or the American Red Cross at 1-800-258-0025.

Over 100 attend Silver Tea

The Wilmington Garden Club has extended its appreciation to Woodbriar of Wilmington for its generous hospitality on the occasion of the recent Silver Tea. There were over 100 guests present to enjoy the program by international floral designer, Kenn Stevens.

Mr. Stevens created many interesting arrangements which were then awarded by a ticket drawing. Guests of honor present were the Northern District Director, Mrs. Pat Gagnon of Danvers and presidents of local garden clubs. The club members donated many hand made items for the successful boutique table. Trays of refreshments were circulated by members of the Silver Tea Committee, chaired by Celia Cornish.

The next meeting of the Garden Club will be held Thursday, November 10 at 7:30 p.m. at Wilmington Woods. The program entitled "Color Trends and Designs" will feature interior designer Cheryl Jenkins. She will show how to decorate homes using colorful floral designs in imaginative ways. The floral arrangement for this meeting will be created by Janise Hurley. Five new members will be welcomed into the club at this meeting. Club members are reminded to sign up for the holiday design classes and holiday social.

The Garden Club welcomes new members who are residents of Wilmington. For information call Membership Chairman, Olive at 657-7340.

Wilmington Horribles Parade

The annual Wilmington Horribles Parade will take place Monday, October 31. The costumed creatures of all ages will leave the police station area at 6:45 p.m. for their march to the WHS tennis courts where all creepy creatures will receive their array of Halloween goodies donated by various charitable organizations.

Volunteer adults or teens should contact Ron Swasey at the Wilmington Recreation Office.

How big is that bat in the window? Greg Bendel, Katie Thomas and Justin Strem are measuring the wing span of their cut-out bat. What size hole can a bat fly through - and how does it know?

Students at Shawsheen Tech decorate a float for Homecoming Weekend, October 14 and 15 at the school. Here, Tammy Sheehan and Kathy Ryan of Tewksbury and Denise Rhodes of Wilmington look over the supplies as they plan their design. Sheehan and Rhodes are members of the peer leadership group that is decorating two floats for the event.

Bats are us at Woburn St. School

Fifth graders at the Woburn Street School in Wilmington have been studying about vertebrates. During the month of October they have been busy doing many activities concerning bats. Students have made replicas of bats depicting their skeletons. Also they have been comparing the mega and micro-bat, finding objects that are equal to their wingspans, researching information about the endangered species, writing poetry and using the computer to write out their findings.

It's YOUR Money

MAKING YOUR GRANDCHILDREN RICH

For those with more retirement assets than they need or with a family business, it's often tempting to save on estate taxes by leaving assets to the grandchildren. But the giving must be structured carefully to avoid the generation-skipping tax: a whopping 55 percent levy on gifts and bequests in excess of $1 million that go to grandchildren or others in the second generation.

Where many givers get stuck is with a trust - especially an insurance trust - that may appreciate substantially. The best way around that is with direct giving while the grandparents are alive. For instance, the proceeds of the life insurance can be protected from the tax if a gift tax return is filed annually exempting the premium on the policy. Stock in the family business can be given to grandchildren over the years, again filing an annual exemption election if the gift is going into a trust of if its is more than $10,000. The advantage of the early giving is that the gift has not yet appreciated.

Get a grip

The post card to the right was brought into the Town Crier office this week by State Rep. Candidate Al Meegan. Meegan has a tough row to hoe. He's running as a Republican in a Democratic district against one of the best entrenched legislators in the Commonwealth. Rep. Jim Miceli has a record of constituent service that just goes on and on. We all know that is the stuff incumbents are made of. Meegan is fighting an uphill battle. I know that, you know that, Jim knows that and so does Al.

Al has a brother Bill. Bill has not been very active in the political scene. He worked on Rocco DePasquale's campaign the last time around. This time around he has loaned his brother a truck to hang a sign on.

They lost their father this summer. They would like to see their mother happy and Bill has been active in this endeavor. At the "senior meeting" last week he protested that his mother was not allowed to join because she is only 59. He also protested that, although the Friends of Seniors invite anyone to join, he could not join because he is not a senior. That's Bill.

Al is running for office.

Bill is protesting a meeting.

Jim is running a campaign. He has always called himself a friend of the seniors. He certainly does not need "A Senior" putting forth trash like this.

Let's try to keep this little Who's Who straight.

By the by let is be remembered that Bill donated, gave, presented that computer to the Senior Center in the name of the Wilmington Kiwanis Club.

Questions 6 and 7

by Bill Conlon

Questions 6 and 7 are perhaps the most controversial of the nine issues that voters must decide on the November 8 ballot. Question 6 is a proposed amendment to the Massachusetts Constitution, while Question 7 changes the actual laws involved. If Question 6 fails, Question 7 becomes pointless.

Next week, referendum questions 8 and 9 will be covered, closing out this editorial series.

Question 6 — Graduated Income Tax

Should Massachusetts impose a graduated income tax?

The state has the power to tax income, granted by Article 44 of the state Constitution. Income is taxed according to type, and everyone now pays the same income tax rate, no matter how much is earned. "Part A" income (unearned income such as dividends, some interest, and some capital gains) is taxed at 12 percent, while all other income is taxed at 5.95 percent, after the assortment of deductions and exemptions are taken.

Question 6 would change the state Constitution to allow a sliding scale on income tax rates. Those who earn more would pay a higher tax rate, and the proposed amendment states that lower income earners must be taxed at a lower rate than higher income earners. Proponents claim that 92 percent of all Massachusetts taxpayers would see a lower income tax rate, while opponents state that Questions 6 and 7 are a trap, offering lower rates for many, but granting the Legislature sweeping new taxation powers and the power to change tax rates. Some 42 states levy an income tax, and 35 of them have sliding tax scales based upon income level.

Future tax rates would be set by the Legislature, and opponents claim that the amendment would allow the creation of local income taxes for cities, towns, counties and even water-and-sewer districts.

A majority of the Joint Committee on Taxation supports Question 6, with six state Reps. and two state Senators backing the plan, while a minority of four Reps. and two Senators oppose the amendment.

Philosophically, the question comes down to "soaking the rich" by raising their tax rates, or keeping the current system of one tax rate for all.

Question 7 — New income tax rates

Question 6, the Constitutional amendment, cannot set specific tax rates so the numbers appear in Question 7. If the amendment fails, Question 7 has no basis, and becomes null and void.

The following tax rates would be established by Question 7:

| Tax rate | Single | Married, joint | Married, separate | Head of household |
|----------|---------------------------------|----------------------------------|---------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 5.5% | to $50,200 | to $81,000 | to $40,500 | to $60,100 |
| 8.8% | over $50,200 up to $90,000 | over $81,000 up to $150,000 | over $40,500 up to $75,000 | over $60,100 up to $120,000 |
| 9.8% | over $90,000 | over $150,000 | over $75,000 | over $120,000 |

The higher tax rate would be based upon marginal income, meaning that if you earn exactly one dollar over the next higher rate threshold, all of your income is not taxed at the higher rate. For example, let's say you're single and earned $100,000 for the year. The first $50,200 would be taxed at 5.5 percent, the next $39,800 would be taxed at 8.8 percent, and only the top $10,000 would be taxed at the 9.8 percent level. Starting in 1996, the rates would be adjusted annually, to account for changes in the cost of living.

The "head of household" status would be new in Massachusetts, and used only for those who filed under that status on the Federal tax return.

Changes in exemptions and deductions would include increasing from $1,000 to $2,000 the deduction for each dependent, eliminate the division between "Part A" (unearned) income such as dividends, interest, etc. and all other forms of income, and increase the income level for "no-tax status" status to $10,000 for a single filer, $14,000 for married filing jointly, and $12,000 for head of household. A host of other tax changes are covered under Question 7.

Both referendum questions deserve close scrutiny. The booklet put out by the Secretary of State's office gives summaries of the questions, pro and con arguments, and the text of the actual questions. By all means, please study the book in detail prior to November 8.

Dear A Senior,
I will stand behind my brother. I never had your vote from the beginning. I assume I do not have your vote now. My brother brought to attention the violation of the Open Meeting Law. He is right. I will stand behind my brother.
I also assume that you are not strong enough as a senior to stand on your own name.

Al Meegan
Candidate for State Rep.

Dear Larz,

The Town of Wilmington is very fortunate to have its own Department of Elder Services with a full time director to plan, organize and provide various programs and activities which are beneficial to residents of the town 60 years of age and older.

The Kiwanis Club of Wilmington and its members provide hundreds of hours of volunteer service and several thousands of dollars in donations to the community of Wilmington. The seniors of Wilmington are recipients of this generosity through the Senior Center Director, Edith Cunningham.

Rocco V. DePasquale raised the issue of donations and money being raised for the Senior Center being placed into the general fund. This is a concern of individuals such as myself and groups such as the Kiwanis. It is my understanding that departments in the town of Wilmington have what is commonly known as a revolving account and that these donated funds are deposited into and used by these departments to purchased needed items that may not be covered in their budgets and referenced at this meeting. The disbursement and account ability of such funds seems to be a heated subject. I would formally, at this time request a clarification on this issue.

The issue of a group called Friends of Wilmington Seniors and the failure of its President Ruth Curtis to answer anybody's questions puzzles me. Her telling me that I could not be a member either, because of my age is a discriminatory statement and is not reflected in the flyer I received the day of the meeting. The statement of purpose reflects a duplication of efforts and perhaps a little bit of infighting among a very vulnerable group of individuals. It is my personal experience that several of the individuals asked to sign a piece of paper at a social function being held for the benefit of the seniors were made to believe that this organization is one and the same as the Senior Center.

The actions of Evelyn Kaminski, chairperson of the Elderly Services Commission at a public meeting to tell anyone regardless of age they don't have the right to address these issues is appalling and according to the Open Meeting Law in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, out of order. Chapter 39, Section 23B of the Massachusetts General Laws reaffirms my grievance.

As a member of the Kiwanis Board of Directors which is responsible for administering services and donations, I have some concerns regarding future efforts. I would find it hard for me to recommend to the Board of Directors of the Kiwanis Club of Wilmington, Inc. or any individual or organization supporting such a group. This group seems to be a duplication of effort of no only this club, but those of the Buzzell Senior Center and the Director of Senior Services Department. These services are already satisfactorily provided.

Bill Meegan

Dear Larz:

We would like to thank all of our friends, neighbors, teachers, classmates, Wilmington Pop Warner and Squirt B Hockey team for the cards and calls following our children's recent auto accident.

Your love and prayers were of great comfort to all of us and we will always be grateful for this!

Sincerely,

DEPT. R (6M)
CHILDREN'S SERVICES

Hey, Mr. Conlon, Where's the Beef??

We would like to thank you for printing LRS Explorer's response to a recent Lowell Sun article and Superintendent of Schools, Christine McGrath's news release regarding the Tewksbury School Department's plan on developing an after school program. However, the headline of your little vignette made it appear is if Dr. McGrath and Alice Juchnevics-Kontos were having a "Tiff" regarding these plans. Although we are very concerned for the future of the existing LRS Explorers AFTER School Enrichment Program at the Dewing school should the school department vote to start its own at the Dewing School, please have it made clear to your readers that we are very pleased that Mr. Ed Doherty has had the vision to consider such an endeavor for the children and families of Tewksbury.

Mrs. Juchnevics-Kontos' response to Dr. McGrath's notice was but a point and to offer to her and the school committee to consider using the two existing non-profit programs currently running in town as it was brought to our attention that school committee members as well as the majority of families in Tewksbury do not know of the existence of the two programs.

In short, Bill, there is no tiff as you have implied. Dr. McGrath and Mrs. Juchnevics-Kontos have not yet spoken regarding this issue. There is, however, a strong desire by the officers and staff of LRS Explorers to work with the school committee to make any plans to enhance our children's education a success. We sincerely hope that members of the school committee, Dr. McGrath and residents of Tewksbury do not take your headline or comments to reflect negatively on the intent of LRS Explorers, Inc.'s response.

Sincerely
Ed Kontos

Dear Larz:

I noted in a recent edition of a new minister now preaching in the town. In 20 years, there has been no welcome for new priests at either St. Dorothy's or St. Thomas'. Your bigotry is reminiscent of that which occurred in this country when the pilgrims settled. Today's edition (October 19, 1994) lists a recipe for sour green tomatoes. This sums up the attitude of your paper.

Secondly, your editorial indicates it's time for Senator Kennedy to set aside for a board room cut throat while he rakes in the profits. Wake up.

Yours truly,
Joseph G. Zukas
McDonald Road,
Wilmington

Dear Mr. Zukas,
Your ability to see the negative astounds me! We received calls from several members of the Episcopal Church and a formal invitation to attend the ceremony. To the best of my knowledge none of the Town Crier employees attend the Episcopal Church. A similar event at St. Thomas or St. Dorothy's might have slipped by unnoticed because I do not attend either of those churches and I received no phone calls or invitations, similarly I noticed a change of address for the Rev. Michael Stotts of the United Methodist Church. Surprise! Surprise! I missed that one, too!
The green tomatoes story received wide support from people with interest in cooking and gardening. Surely you would not deny people with interests other than yours an item in the paper!

I look forward to receiving your guest column in support of our senior senator, the Honorable Mr. Kennedy. I am sure you have valid points you would like to put forth as your own as did Mr. Conlon.

Stu Neilson
editor

Dear Joe:

Your prejudice is showing at the seams.

Did any paper other than the Town Crier ever have stories about St. Thomas, the new church, when it opened?

When the Archbishop of Boston visited St. Thomas, was there any paper other than the Town crier which had pictures of him in St. Thomas?

Quite possibly other papers have had pictures of the Right Reverend Father Albert J. Shea. There were several in the Town Crier, and a report about his good natured joke

More green tomato ideas

by Bill Conlon

Recipes that use green tomatoes continue to trickle in, after a request two weeks ago, and I'd like to thank all those creative home canners who have responded. Well done!

Doris Hirtle submitted this recipe for "Spanish" sour pickles made of green tomatoes, and included her own diagram for slicing the veggies. Thanks go out to Doris Stantal and Jo Wazlowski for their submissions, but the recipe for green tomato jam was printed last week. (That recipe uses raspberry or strawberry Jell-O to turn green tomatoes into a quite surprising jam!)

Spanish Pickles

One gallon green tomatoes (eight pounds)

Two large onions (or four small onions)

One ounce whole pickling spice

Half cup salt

Half pound brown sugar

Two green peppers

Cider vinegar

Wash tomatoes and peppers and peel the onions. Slice all very thin; sprinkle alternate layers with salt and let lie overnight. In the morning, drain and put in preserving kettle. Add remaining ingredients, using sufficient vinegar to cover mixture. Heat gradually to boiling point and boil half an hour. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

GOP charges vandalism

Doug Sears, the chairman of the Tewksbury Republican Town Committee, has called upon town Democratic leaders to join with the TRTC in condemning acts of campaign vandalism and property destruction. (Editor's note: A copy of Sear's letter was attached).

Four incidents of campaign vandalism and destruction took place in recent days, Sears reported. In one incident, Romney campaign signs were knocked down or destroyed at 540 Main Street on successive days, October 13 and 14, he claimed. Permission for the placement of the signs was granted by the property owner, Sears noted.

In two other incidents involving campaign materials, tire slashing and removal of air from the tires of vehicles bearing Republican candidates' signs took place at the Oakdale Mall October 12 and 16, Sears alleged. But the tires on an adjacent vehicle, backing a Democratic candidate, were untouched, Sears said.

about "St. Methodist."

Did any other paper than the Town Crier ever have pictures and stories about Temple Shalom, the synagogue in North Wilmington? This writer recalls pictures of those services, and of Harry Solow, one of the finest men of Wilmington.

I have been called many names, but to the best of my recollection, never a bigot?

The Town Crier never dictates to any of its writers the subjects about which they shall write. Call that, if you will, prejudice.

LIES and TRUTH

Desperate candidates and desperate campaigns tend to do desperate things.
LIKE FLAT-OUT LIE!

Take Al Meegan.

In his desperate bid to defeat Jim Miceli for State Representative, he has lied consistently in ads attacking Jim.

LIE 1. Meegan states "He (Miceli) tried to raise your Auto Excise Tax."

— "Town Crier" ad 9/21/94

Jim Miceli has NEVER voted to raise the auto excise tax, nor any other tax.

LIE 2. Meegan states "Jim Miceli voted with the liberal House leadership for the Graduated Income Tax."

— "Town Crier" ad 9/28/94

HOUSE No. 4896

[May 9, 1994 — At the request of the Senate, the Proposal for an Initiative Amendment to the Constitution relative to a graduated income tax (see House, No. 4001 of 1992) (agreed to in Joint Session of the two Houses of the preceding General Court) was taken from the files and called for consideration in Joint Session of the two Houses.]

5/25/94 — Roll call taken on above bill
Rep. Miceli voted NO on the Graduated Income Tax (see yea and nay on above matter in supplement No. 77).

LIE 3. Meegan states "Jim Miceli refuses to allow an audit of the House books."

— "Town Crier" ad 10/5/94

HOUSE No. 5700

Substituted by the House, by Representatives Haley of Weymouth and Harkins of Needham and as amended by the House, for a Bill for accountable politics (House, No. 5164). December 20.

This bill includes a mandate for the State Auditor to audit the books of the House. 12/20/93 — Roll call taken on above bill. Rep. Miceli voted YES (see yea and nay on above matter in supplement No. 348).

LIE 4. Meegan states "The last thing he (Miceli) wants is reform."

If a candidate is willing to deceive to get elected, he'll lie after he's elected.

Rep. Jim Miceli has consistently been a leader in the area of Rules Reform, Campaign Finance Reform, Tighter Ethics Regulations and keeping the legislative process open. He has consistently taken stands independent of the House leadership.

On November 8,

Family values are important to you. You make decisions based on how they will affect your loved ones. It follows that you would want your home improvements done by a business that applies the same family values in everything they do.

American Gutter Cleaning Co. is that kind of family-run company. Joe Rocha established the American Gutter Cleaning Co. over 10 years ago. He and his wife, Carol, run the company, along with their highly trained, reliable, and fully insured staff.

If your gutters aren't cleaned at least once or twice a year, you could be increasing the chance of interior water damage to your home. It's important to have your gutters cleaned and inspected for minor damage before the New England snow and ice arrive, and also in the spring after the maples and other trees have dropped their flowers or any

"Stickers for Stinkers" considered for trash mistakes in Tewksbury

Tewksbury residents need to clean up their act when putting out their garbage and recyclables.

"One of the most costly mistakes residents are making is leaving their trash uncovered" says Frank Canelas. "Tewksbury is paying for thousands of gallons of water in extra disposal fees. At five cents per pound, that's expensive rain water! declares Frank. In addition, the added water weight in the garbage is back breaking for the garbage collectors.

Used motor oil is being found in some people garbage. Oil does not go "away" when it's put into the trash! That oil goes somewhere (as does everything else that people discard) and it's hazardous waste. Used motor oil is collected every third Saturday of the month at the Tewksbury DPW from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The recycling needs some retraining. Before Tewksbury changed contractors, residents were well trained in recycling. Frank Canelas maintains that since Atlantic Waste came and went, Tewksbury residents need a lot of retraining, particularly in the following areas:

- Plastics
1. Empty plastic motor oil bottles and jugs are not allowed. Containers that have held hazardous waste of any kind such as motor oil, bleach, plastic syringes etc. are not allowed as plastic recyclables.
 2. Detergent and soap bottles must be well rinsed.

3. No bottle caps or jar lids allowed.

Glass

1. Again, no jar or bottle lids allowed.
2. Rinse out all bottles and jars.

Newspapers

Do not put newspapers in plastic bags! Paper bags are ok. Plastic is not paper, so it can't go with paper.

A Stickers for Stinkers program to be initiated. For garbage and recycling violations, people will receive stickers on their trash cans with their violation checked off on a checklist. Their address and offense will also be noted by the driver. If the violation reoccurs, their garbage and recyclables will not be picked up.

Please refer to the back of your recyclables schedule if you have questions and keep it posted in a convenient location in your home. If you do not have a recycling schedule, go to Town Hall and get one. New town residents should go to the DPW to pick up a blue recycling bin (the first one is free). Additional bins may be purchased for $4 each.

Tewksbury residents have demonstrated in the past that they know how to be responsible in their garbage disposal and recycling habits. Nothing less is expected now.

Selectmen strike Allen's statement from minutes

by Jeff Nazzaro

Selectman Diane Allan did not read a prepared statement at the September 26 Wilmington Board of Selectmen meeting alleging that Selectmen Chairman Michael McCoy verbally accosted her following the September 13 joint meeting of the Wilmington Finance and School Committees.

At least that is what the minutes from the September 26 reflect after selectmen voted Monday night to strike Allan's prepared statement from the record.

The vote was a predictable 3-2, with Allan and Selectman Gerald Duggan voting to maintain the statement in the minutes.

The motion was made by Selectman Robert Cain, who said he disapproved of the statement being included in the board's minutes because it did not pertain to selectman or town business. Cain said discussion regarding the statement could remain.

Cain protested at the September 26 meeting, asking McCoy while Allan read her statement if he could be excused, since town business was no longer being discussed.

McCoy allowed Allan to read the statement but adjourned the meeting when Cain rose to leave.

Allan said at the September 26 meeting that McCoy confronted her after the September 13 meeting, calling her, among other things, a "GD liar" because she failed to vote for a liquor license in July for his Lowell Street restaurant.

McCoy said he told Allan that he thought what she did in relation to his liquor license bid stunk and said he believes her motivation was political payback for McCoy's support of the rehiring of Town Manager Michael Caira.

DO YOU NEED AN APPRAISAL WHEN YOU LIST YOUR HOME?

Sometimes sellers wonder if they should spend $250 to $300 for a professional appraisal of their property before they place it on the market. Setting the right price is an important first step in getting a home sold.

In order to decide whether you should invest in an appraisal, it is important that you understand just what an appraisal is - it is the appraiser's opinion of the property's market value, based on recent sales of homes similar to yours. Different professional appraisers could come up with different numbers. Even if all of them agreed, there is no guarantee that you would receive that amount for your property. An alternative to a professional appraisal is to call in a professional Realtor for a written market analysis of your property. A market analysis will include information about recent home sales in your neighborhood, as well as an indication of how those homes compare to yours. We provide this service with no charge or obligation to you. Then if you are still unsure of the value of your home, you may wish to pay for an appraisal to be done.

A dark AND stormy night in Wilmington

by Jeff Nazzaro
It was a rain swept Sunday evening when I finally mustered up the courage to venture onto the ominous grounds of the infamous Spooky Hollows, Wilmington.

My mission: to unlock the mysterious lore behind the labyrinth; to discover the demoniacal delights dug up and displayed by the devilish Dellascios.

I had to find out for myself what made the horrific hellways of Spooky Hollows more frightening than making a left turn onto Route 38 at 5:00. I just had to know.

Spooky Hollows is the brainchild of Alan and Debbie Dellascio, with help from their cousin Brian. It is comprised of 14 hallways creeping with ghoulish monsters and garish fun packed into the 15 by 23 foot finished basement of their suburban Wilmington home, situated at the corner of Old Shawsheen Avenue and Bridge Lane (across from the West Intermediate School).

What Alan, a sophomore at Salem State and Debbie, a 1994 graduate of UMass Lowell, do with this space and a handful of dedicated volunteers from their family and neighborhood is nothing short of amazing.

Good, old-fashioned frights and scary sights are mixed in with clever effects and surprises. But don't look for any hints here. Legend has it the last person who divulged secrets of Spooky Hollows is still in the Wilmington Plaza parking lot waiting to make a left turn onto Main Street.

There is also a "Not Scary" tour offered for children, where youngsters are allowed to carry a flashlight and get behind-the-scenes insights into the creative minds behind Spooky Hollows.

The Dellascios began Spooky Hollows four years ago as a treat for their younger sister's Halloween party guests. Soon, the youngsters in attendance were bringing back older brothers and sisters, parents, aunts and uncles, witches and warlocks, you know, family.

Two years ago they opened it up to the public and greeted more than 1,400 people of all ages with scares and blood-curdling stares.

"It worked out pretty good," Alan said.

And so it has. This year, close to 1,000 people have already meandered through the narrow, cob-webbed passageways of the newly updated Spooky Hollows, with the big Halloween weekend still to come.

The Dellascios do not charge admission prices, but do accept donations to cover costs. This year's addition of Spooky Hollows, which the Dellascios began work on in May, cost close to $1,500. Anything Spooky Hollows takes in above that will be donated to the Shane Warford Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The Hollows will be open for chill-seekers of all ages on this Thursday and Friday from 7 to 10, Saturday from 3 to 10, Sunday from 2 to 8 and Monday, Halloween night, from 6 to 10.

But it's always midnight at Spooky Hollows, so beware, be scared, be there!

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

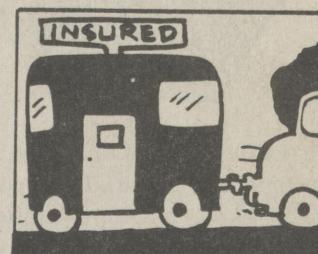

by Edward H. Wilkens

DO YOU TOW A CAMPER?

QUESTION: I tow a camper with my car. Does my auto and homeowners policy apply to my towed recreational vehicle?

ANSWER: Under the homeowners policy, a camping trailer is insured against theft up to a limit of $500. However, there is no coverage when it's off your premises.

Auto policies offer some protection, but is also limited and varies with the policy. Some offer automatic but limited coverage if trailers are acquired during the policy period. Others cover it only if it is specifically described in the policy. To be safe, check with your agent. If you tow a camper, you should know exactly what your coverage is.

It is the brainchild of the Department of Education to further the process of restructuring schools and providing recertification opportunities for teachers. During the school year the Alliance offers workshops and lectures covering various topics ranging from multiculturalism to interdisciplinary projects.

The third annual kickoff was a sharing conference. Four hundred and thirty participants met by discipline for the first half of the conference. The purpose of these meetings was to provide teachers with an opportunity to network with other Alliance members who are engaged in teaching the same discipline. Wynn staff members John Jarek, and Brenda O'Brien were facilitators for two of these networking conferences.

Twenty presentations on a variety of topics were offered during the second half of the conference. Wynn Middle School was well represented by the sixth grade team of George Kalerites, Kaspar Kasparian, Betty Kyle, Pam McDade, Carol Sagro and Susan Thorne who presented an overview of their very successful interdisciplinary unit on space. Joy White, seventh grade English teacher, also did a presentation. She told how she went about obtaining a $3,500 grant from Digital Corporation and the subsequent unit on immigration which she has created.

The Wynn Middle School is committed to the purpose of the Alliance and plans to host an Alliance Steering Committee meeting in January.

A Message From... WILMINGTON REDEMPTION

TO OUR CUSTOMERS,

Effective immediately, we will no longer accept cans in plastic bags, they must all be in flats.

Only Massachusetts containers are returnable. We cannot accept those from Maine or NH. Please be careful not to include them with your returnables. For every bad container we accept, it takes three good ones to make up for the loss! We do buy aluminum cans at 15¢/lb. or 15¢/case.

Our hours are 9-5, Monday thru Friday, and 9-4 on Saturday. At times we must close for an hour in order to deliver our containers to the distributors. We are also closed on most holidays. We apologize if this is an inconvenience, but it is unavoidable. We have also been forced to stop most pick-ups because of time constraints.

We appreciate your cooperation and would like to remind you that we are a Food Pantry drop-off.

Wilmington senior topics

Flu clinic

Monday, October 31, Nurse Ann Fitzgerald will administer flu shots at the Senior Center beginning at 1 p.m. Flu can be very dangerous to an elderly person. To avoid contacting the flu virus it is important to get a flu shot. It is free and Ann has set aside time to administer it at the Center. All seniors are urged to be on hand for the clinic as the flu season is almost here. A cold or allergic reactions to some food or medicine, should cause one to consult their doctor before taking the injection.

Holiday dinner dance

Tickets for the Wilmington/Tewksbury Elks Annual Holiday donation dinner dance being held in Elks Hall on South Street, Thursday evening, Nov. 3 are still available to any Wilmington resident 60 or over. The tickets are free.

Fuel assistance

Any senior who received fuel assistance through the fuel program should have received their application for 1994 in the mail. Do not send it back until you check it and make any corrections on the income or living conditions that may have changed this year. Be sure to sign the application before mailing it back. I will be making out new applications for those who will qualify under the income levels, only on Wednesdays on appointment. Call the Center for an appointment.

Learn a hobby

Seniors who have retired and now want to learn a hobby to keep them busy are urged to take advantage of the fact that there are openings in classes and programs at the Center which are free of charge except for the stipend asked for the meal program and the therapeutic social. There is no reason why, those who have never used a sewing machine, learned to knit or crochet cannot join a craft class. Volunteer teachers are available to teach. Ceramics is a good hobby for gift making and our teacher is very good. Those who have always wanted to attend an art class, but could not afford it, there is an excellent one free, with a terrific teacher who will keep students busy learning.

One may want to attend the therapeutic social dinner dances, but never learned to dance. Our dance class teacher will teach all the latest line dances and ball room dances. If your interest is making small toys for a gift, sanders, drills plainers and an assortment of saws, are available. To keep healthy we have an excellent nutrition class instructed by a retired nurse who is well versed in the field of nutrition. Working along with the nutrition class in keeping seniors healthy is the exercise class. This class is taught by a professional exercise instructor. She is paid by the hour through the department budget, but is free to the seniors.

I have been asked by others working in Senior Centers how can we give our classes free of charge to the seniors. The answer is always because of our volunteer teachers and the seniors themselves who donate their money, articles and time to their yearly Senior Citizen Fair.

The money earned is used to buy all the shops, saws, sanders, plainer, drills and small tools, crafts materials and supplies and sewing machines, ceramics kiln and paints, exercise and dance classes; VCRs, television and music, bingo, board, machine and cards.

All who enjoy their senior citizen center with the many free classes and programs, we thank the many seniors active and shutins for their contributions that make the yearly senior fair so successful year after year, earning enough to pay for all equipment to service the classes and programs we have today.

Eddie Cunningham

P.S. I thank all the seniors for their get well cards. They were gratefully appreciated
